COMMITTEES WORK TOWARD ECA APPROVAL

Conference On Bill Must Settle $200,000 In Differences

WASHINGTON, April 13—(AP)—House and senate tried today for a quick compromise over the $200,000 difference in their foreign aid bills.

Chairman Kee (D-WV) of the house foreign affairs committee figured the matter could be settled swiftly. Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the senate foreign relations committee said it might take two or three days.

Five members from each committee buckled down to the task. They got the job after the house okayed a $5,380,000 bill yesterday by a better than 7 to 1 margin—354 to 48. The senate passed its own higher-priced bill last Friday by a 10 to 1 edge, 70 to 7.

Both Same Idea
Both measures point in the same direction—continuation of the European Recovery program for another 15 months, until June 30, 1950. The cash will have to come along later in a separate appropriation bill.

The Economic Cooperation Administration, which runs the recovery program, asked for a $5,580,000 for the next year, and contract at voted: $1,150,000,000 of it to tide ECA over until June 30, $4,280,000,000 for the next year, and contract authority up to $150,000,000.

The house kept the $4,280,000,000 for next year intact. But it denied the contract authority, and it cut $50,000,000 from the fund for the remainder of this fiscal year.

The house tossed in an investment guarantee feature which might mean an extra $272,000,000 in private aid. Under it, the government would grant private business certain guarantees up to that figure for investing in European recovery projects. The government wouldn't guarantee anybody against ordinary business risks. An investor would have a guarantee that he could turn into dollars any profits made in foreign currency. And he would have a guarantee against losses caused by confiscation, riot, war or revolution.

Conservation Unity Bill Up Before Ohio House Today

COLUMBUS, April 13—(AP)—The administration-backed bill to create a brand new department of natural resources comes to a vote in the house of representatives today.

The measure sailed through the senate March 1 by a vote of 30 to 0. The proposal to unite the state's conservation activities under a single director appointed by the governor has strong support. Most conservation and sportsmen's groups are backing it.

The senate called up a measure by Sen. Cline Jackson (D-Mahoning) to provide for licensing of practical nurses. He said the measure will help solve the problem created by the shortage of registered nurses in Ohio. The bill is backed by the state nurses board and heads of various institutions.

The conservation measure would create divisions of lands, water, forestry, wildlife, parks, geological survey and beach erosion in the new department of natural resources.

A natural resources director would be appointed by the governor, subject to senate confirmation, to serve for six years. He would be assisted by an advisory board of seven members and Ohio State university's dean of agriculture.

House labor committee members were quoted today as saying agreement has been reached by a sub-

Secretaries Claim Defense Head Must Be Given Powers

WASHINGTON, April 13—(AP)—The Air Force joined the Army today in publicly blasting the existing national defense set up as inadequate and expensive.

Secretary of Air Symington, at a closed-door session of the senate armed services committee Thursday, declared the present unification law, "has not worked satisfactorily." Chairman Tydings (D-MD) made the testimony public today.

"We have tried out this half-measure organization and there is unanimous agreement that it is inadequate," Symington said.

He said former Secretary of Defense Forrestal "has constantly been a referee of three brawls as he tried to operate his job."

Like Secretary of the Army Royal, who said much the same thing in an open session of the committee yesterday, Symington said the civilian defense chief never will be able to ride herd on the quarrelling Army, Navy and Air Force unless he is given much greater power.

"Such authority, he said, 'could save billions annually.'"

That could be accomplished, Symington added, by operating the defense department "from a fresh start as against trying to haul together three independent units," each with its own training, procurement and the like.

MOON HISTORY MADE TUESDAY

"Black Eclipse" First In 100 Years; Some See It In Salem Area

The moon made astronomical history last night.

Scientists said the "black eclipse" was the first one like it here in more than 100 years.

The event also chalked up another 20th-Century milestone—the advent of drawing room sky-gazing.

Some people in Salem were able to see a partial stage in the eclipse. At about 10:30 p. m. Tuesday, when the moon was almost completely blocked off from the sun, it was visible in Salem, despite a cloudy night. Many people, however, reported they could not see the spectacle because of the clouds.

The solar spectacle was piped into thousands of homes via television.

It appeared on screens in bars and taverns too, and touched off gripes by those who preferred their customary boxing and wrestling programs.

"It ain't proper," said one Times Square bar patron. "If anybody wants to see the moon, he ought to go outdoors."

That's what many did.

The top of Empire State building was jammed as the moon slid into the shadow of the earth, and gradually became invisible.

Others stood in the streets and on doorsteps to watch the show.

The phenomenon could be seen on half the earth's surface—wherever it was night at the time it occurred.

Authorities at Hayden Planetarium said that, as viewed in New York, the moon was completely blacked out, whereas in a normal full eclipse it shines with a dull red glow.

The last time a "black eclipse" took place was in 1844, the planetarium said. There have been several full eclipses of the moon since then, the last one in 1945, but none of them black.

In a normal eclipse, the earth is squarely between the moon and the sun. But while the moon is in a shadow, it retains a dull glow from sun rays that bounce from the earth's atmosphere, the Planetarium said.

OHIO HOUSE OK'S CHRISTIAN SCIENCE HEALING CHARGES

By REED SMITH
COLUMBUS, April 13—(AP)—The first bill ever passed by the house to allow Christian Science healers to charge for their services reaches the senate today for a stormy test.

The house passed the oft-defeated proposal 75 to 50 Tuesday after an hour and a half of debate sprinkled with biblical quotations. Sixty-eight affirmative votes were needed for passage.

Sponsors said Ohio is the only state still forbidding Christian Science practitioners to set fees for their ministrations. They have been accepting donations for their services in the state for 40 years, they added.

The house also reconsidered and passed a previously defeated bill allowing Sunday bowling. The vote was 80 to 45. Already approved by the senate, the measure goes to the governor for signing.

Defeated in the house was a senate-approved proposal to allow cities to pay dues to the association of municipalities. The vote was 40 yes to 81 no.

Republican Leader C. William O'Neill and some Democrats asserted it would have permitted cities to operate a legislative lobby with tax money.

Voting on the Christian Science bill cut across party lines. Forty-three Democrats voted yes and 22 of them no. Thirty-two Republicans voted yes and 28 of them no.

Rep. Bishop Kilpatrick (D-Trumbull), sponsor of the controversial bill, said 100,000 Christian Scientists in Ohio would be the only ones affected by enactment of the measure.

Healing By Prayer
"It has nothing to do with the practice of medicine, it is healing by prayer," he asserted in a house speech. "Christian Science practitioners merely want to be allowed to charge a fee instead of accepting free-will offerings," he added.

Included in the measure was a Kilpatrick amendment requiring compliance of practitioners with public health laws and assurance that no one would be denied benefits of accepted medical and surgical practices.

Stores To Close One Hour Friday For Church Rites

Salem's stores will close from 1 to 2 p. m. Friday to give their employees an opportunity to attend the Good Friday services at the Methodist church from 12 noon through 3 p. m.

The Salem Ministerial association, of which Rev. George C. Beebe is president, arranged the event in which most of the ministers will have part.

The meditations will center around the seven last words spoken by Jesus from the cross.

The program is as follows: "Father, Forgive Them for They Know Not What They Do," Fred Toner, pastor of the Winons Methodist church; "Today Shall Thou Be With Me in Paradise," Rev. W. P. Dockery; "Behold Thy Son; Behold Thy Mother;" Rev. George D. Keister; "My God! My God! Why Has Thou Forsaken Me?" Rev. E. S. Scott; "I Thirst," Rev. H. L. Ogden; "It Is Finished," Capt. John Hansen; "Father Into Thy Hands I Commit My Spirit," Rev. Harold B. Winn.

Ministers having the devotions for the different periods are: Rev. R. J. Hunter, Rev. E. K. Bars, Rev. Ashley Wilson, Rev. Robert E. Mosher, Rev. James C. Beach, pastor of the Youngtown Christian church when he talked on "A Landing Place for the Soul" at the noon-day Lenten service Tuesday in the State theater.

"Only through a great loyalty can we find a landing place for the soul," Rev. Beach told his audience, which more than doubled the first day's attendance.

The speaker quoted an outstanding industrial leader in aircraft manufacture as saying, "The trouble with our generation is that we have no landing place for the soul."

"We need to rediscover the narrow runways where we can make a landing in these crisis days," Rev. Beach commented.

Rev. R. J. Hunter, pastor of the First Baptist church, was in charge. James Cosgrove was soloist for the service, with Mrs. Stephen Odoran his accompanist. Ben Bailey played for group singing.

These services will continue Wednesday and Thursday. They are sponsored by the Salem Ministerial association.

ROTARY CLUB FAVORS PLAN FOR 'BY-PASS'

Club Votes Support To Council Project; New Officers Named

The proposed by-pass highway north of Salem, which would serve to eliminate the heavy truck traffic from downtown streets, was given the unanimous endorsement of the Salem Rotary club Tuesday.

The civic organization's support of the project, still in city council's hands, followed introduction of a motion by two downtown merchants, Robert S. McCulloch and Joseph Bryan.

Not a single voice of objection to the highway cut-off was heard at the Rotary meeting in the Memorial building.

Action by the club was the result of a request for support of the project by George D. Chappell, chairman of city council's safety committee. Council is expected to pass legislation seeking state and federal sponsorship of the highway plan.

Officers were elected by the Rotarians yesterday. William Sponseller to take over the presidency on July 1. He will succeed Harold Benson. Sponseller is a building contractor.

Forrestal Incident

James Forrestal, who had done everything in his very considerable power to coordinate the armed services, has had a nervous breakdown. It occurred within a few days of his retirement as secretary of defense.

There can be little doubt that overwork was the cause. Mr. Forrestal himself had pointed out in his appeal for an executive assistant that the job of defense secretary was beyond the ability of one man. The function of signing papers alone used up hours of his working time. The new secretary, Mr. Johnson, has been given an assistant, Stephen Early.

A grave question is posed by the government's search for men capable of handling its hardest jobs. It has been asked many times about the office of the presidency, which experts agree is too much for one man to handle under the existing hodge-podge of duties. It will be asked about the job of defense secretary. It will be asked eventually about the chairmanship of the National Security Resources board, which is potentially as trying a position as the presidency itself.

One of two things must happen to a job that gets too big for human dimensions. Either the job will be slanted, or the holder of the job will be penalized if he tries to extend his strength unduly. In either case, the public will be the loser. The Forrestal incident should help to convince skeptical congressmen that the report of the Hoover commission on executive organization deals with more than theory. It is concerned with getting the work of government done without injuring the health of overburdened officials.

Degrees of Aid

President Truman's formal submission of the North Atlantic pact for ratification will sharpen the only real issue raised by its terms—the size of the commitment by the United States to furnish military assistance to the pact's other signers.

While the senate alone is called on to ratify the treaty, the issue of the money obligation undertaken will be raised in both houses of congress. Bills for appropriations must originate in the house of representatives.

It may be true, as a radio comedian quipped a few nights ago, that Iceland has nothing to offer under a mutual aid treaty but snowballs. That kind of fun-making, however, ignores what is being attempted in the North Atlantic pact.

The pact is not an ordinary military alliance, but a plan of cooperative security, similar to the plans proposed under the League of Nations and later under the United Nations. There are many degrees of aid possible under such a plan.

One degree, for example, might be Iceland's consent to the use of its territory under certain circumstances. Every government signing the treaty must deal with the same issue raised in the United States: what is the real size of its commitment? And in each case the answer must be the same; that it all depends on the size of the job to be done if the security of the pact's signers is challenged.

A Pain In The Heel

Joe DiMaggio's heel is worse again. The pain is felt in the Pentagon, the stock exchange and the halls of congress. Scrubby urchins in San Francisco are heavy-hearted. U. S. occupation forces in Germany and Japan are going about their work more grimly, and in those quiet backwaters where the aged sit out their declining days there is a gentle murmur of sympathy.

Shut-ins feel they are sharing their loneliness with Joltin' Joe as he goes to the hospital. Athletes think of the day when some kindred misery may throw a shadow over their bright glory. A lump forms in the throat of a baseball fan in Juneau, Alaska, and a furtive tear in the eye of a rookie first baseman in a training camp in Florida. There has been no pain like the one in DiMaggio's heel since the pain that was in the stomach of Babe Ruth many years ago. That heel is already as famous as the heel of Achilles or the ear of Jenkins, which became the cause of war between England and Spain. In short, it's time to play ball again.

Item For A Spring Day

News has leaked out of the cow country that there's a shortage of cowboys. Seems as if the juvenile dream of straddling a horse and camping under the stars goes glimmering when kids grow up. They want to be something else, on second thought.

But on third thought—what then? Could a ranch owner find an old saddle and a gentle pony for about a million punchy, paunchy cases of high-pressure frustration who want to jog along a dusty trail looking for cows—or whatever it is that a cowboy does when he's working?

Could they find some chow in the chuckwagon for about a million dyspeptics who can't stand the thought of anything but a piece of toast and a cup of coffee for breakfast? Could they spare a bunk and a blanket space for a million insomniacs who try to count sheep in stuffy, noisy bedrooms? Could they use a trainload or two of wistful willies who do real well with the tender part in "Little Eagle" but who when the company is congenial? If so, send the one-way tickets and make up the bunks, gentlemen. Here come your third-thought cowboys.

The Stars Say
For Thursday, April 14

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

THIS day may be devoted to holding a situation in a groove of the stable and substantial in the midst of a complete turn-over in which the outcome is destined to be long-term and critical in its far reaching and very active consequences.

In this, ingenuity and innovation have real value, although it might be hazardous to be lavish in taking chances with assets, resources and tangible wealth, or funds. Extravagance, plunging, over-indulgence in any direction could result disastrously. Put on the brakes and keep obligations and duty in mind.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are urged to keep to conservative and justifiable expenditure of funds, energies, plans and all resources, with obligation and sense of duty in mind, even when drawing on reserves for launching out on a spectacular program of long-range and enduring purpose.

There may be little encouragement or tangible support from those in influential positions or even from expected social, professional or family cooperation or approbation. "Go it alone" with discretion and moderation, although the urge to take major chances be strong and seemingly urgent. Dramatic and dynamic issues are in the offing for organized and prudent activities.

A child born on this day will be disposed to plunge in its novel creative urges, original and skillful, with tendencies to gamble at almost any cost, with little aid from higher-ups or family.

He just keeps buying oil wells and padding up his bonds if not his bones.

The third-dimension movie is a Danish discovery for the moment... eventually the Russians will claim it for Ivan the Terrible.

And they will prove that Ivan was terrible in any dimension.

SECRET SERVICE GETS HOT ANGLE ON COUNTERFEITS

CIRCLEVILLE, April 12—(AP)—Secret service men launched an investigation of an alleged black market "counterfeiting ring in England today as $850 in bogus U.S. currency was picked up here.

Secret Service Agent Ralph Roebuck of Columbus and Pickaway county Sheriff Charles Radcliff said the money was carried by William Peter Pugh, an Englishman.

Pugh, manager for a British team of acrobatic girls scheduled to appear Saturday with the Mills Brothers' circus, was exonerated of blame Roebuck said.

The two officials, who questioned Pugh after two $50 counterfeit bills had been passed here yesterday, said they thought Pugh had been victimized by the foreign "ring."

The Englishman told the officials he had received the bogus money in exchange for pounds sterling at a source in London pointed out to him by his booking agent, identified only as "Mr. Young."

Roebuck, who said the Secret service had been advised counterfeit American money had appeared in England and on the European continent recently, started an immediate checkup by notifying Paris and London of the local discovery. The bills passed by Pugh were of $50 and $100 denomination.

Pugh told the officers he obtained the money last week, just before sailing for America. He passed one of the $50 bills, he said, in a cafe where his acrobatic troupe dined. Another $50 bill, given to the girls, was spent in a "dime store" for trinkets which the team planned to take back to England.

Roebuck said Pugh made full restitution of the $100, but that the Englishman was "out the full $50 and was far from home."

The Secret service agent described the counterfeit money as "almost perfect."

CLEVELAND, April 13—(AP)—Cleveland is prepared to spend around $3,000,000 for downtown parking space to handle 10,000 cars. Mayor Thomas A. Burke reported today.

The present legislature, he said, probably will pass a law permitting cities to obtain necessary land for parking. Burke said his preference would be to turn the land over to private operators.

193 Ohio Schools Have Driver Courses

The second semester of the school year finds between 5,000 and 6,000 Ohio high school students enrolled in courses in Driver Education and Training, according to Albert P. Morris, manager of the Columbiana county Motor club.

Twenty-six high schools have added this course to their curriculums, making a total of 193 schools with such courses during this semester. One hundred and one are city high schools, 68 are county high schools and one parochial school and one university school are also included.

Before the summer vacation rolls around, these high school students will have spent at least 36 hours in the classroom studying traffic laws, laws of nature, what makes an automobile "tick"; they will also have spent 24 hours in a dual controlled driver training car, with 8 of the 84 hours actually behind-the-wheel under the guidance of specially-trained teachers.

Inflammation of Eye Needs Attention

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Nearly all diseases of the eye—serious as well as trifling—start with inflammation. This is a fact which everybody should know because neglect of a severe disorder of the eye may lead to permanent blindness.

It is true that in most cases inflammation of the eye is due to a simple, relatively harmless, condition but it may also be caused by much more threatening ones.

Making Diagnosis

These conditions may sometimes be mistaken for conjunctivitis, which is an inflammation of the lining membrane. In helping to make a diagnosis, it has been suggested by Dr. Edward P. Burch, of Minneapolis, that adrenalin chloride be dropped into the eye. This will cause a reduction of the conjunctivitis immediately, but will have no effect on the inflammation caused by iritis, or inflammation of the colored part of the eye, or glaucoma. In the latter condition, there is increased pressure of the fluid in the eyeball.

Conjunctivitis usually causes only slight discomfort. The patient feels as though there is something in his eye. Usually there is some discharge present. Examination under the microscope will show the type of infection present so that the proper type of treatment may be utilized, such as antiseptic preparations or the sulfonamide drugs.

Iritis is exceedingly painful. The colored part of the eye becomes dull and the pupil may be irregular in shape.

Glaucoma also produces severe pain. The pupil may be larger than normal or oval shaped, the vision is interfered with, and rainbows are seen around lights.

Ulcer Forms

Sometimes an ulcer forms on the corner or front part of the eyeball. This is known as ulcerative keratitis. This can be distinguished from conjunctivitis by putting a little fluorescein into the eye. This fluorescein outlines the ulcer on the corner.

Persons who have eye inflammation should have a thorough study of the eye made promptly by an eye specialist. It is important that early diagnosis of severe eye disorders be made, so that permanent damage to the eye may be prevented.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

B. J. C.: I would like to know the cause of falling hair, and if there is a cure for it?

Answer: Falling hair may be due to the general condition, since such things as anemia and poor digestion are sometimes responsible.

Resorcin and salicylic acid, made up into a lotion or ointment, have been found helpful. Sometimes a solution of borax is of value.

Massaging of the scalp with the fingers is a valuable measure if carried out regularly and systematically.

Letters to Dr. Bundesen should be addressed in care of 236 E. 45th St., New York City.

100 Attend Rent Board Discussion

More than 100 persons attended the meeting Monday evening in the Memorial building which was called by the Rent Advisory board for Columbiana, Belmont and Jefferson counties.

According to J. E. Willey, rent-inspector-examiner, individual cases were heard and referred to the rent director or to the compliance director in cases of overcharge claims.

Following the interviews a discussion on the new rent act of April 1, 1949, was held. "Eviction" changes, "fair return" and "decontrolled property" were the principal subjects of the discussion.

Willey said that in the case of decontrolled property—many properties, previously decontrolled, were put back under control and owners must file a registration by May 1. All rented properties are under control except those built since Feb. 1, 1947, and conversion units installed since that date. In cases where the new properties have been rented to veterans of the last war, these units are under control.

Samuel M. McCormick of Steubenville, chairman of the Rent Advisory board, presided at the meeting. William H. Blackford, area rent director, led the open discussion.

Willey said he would be in the Salem postoffice Thursday to assist landlords and tenants.

The air arm is itself engaged in building up a fleet of B36 bombers, constructed to carry heavy bomb loads great distances. It said only yesterday it has decided to buy 39 more of the huge, six-engine craft, bringing the total on order or delivered to 108.

Asked about a house committee's approval of more for the Air Force than President Truman had recommended, Johnson said:

"I'm supporting the President's program. I'm not quarreling with congress." When a reporter sought to reopen the question, the secretary interrupted: "The language will speak for itself."

Royall told the senate group, "we are worse prepared today to meet an emergency than before we had unification." He said the Secretary of Defense should be given strong power to effect "real unification."

edits to strikes and ban Florida vacations financed by BUC payments. When the committee couldn't agree on proposed revisions, the bill was sent to a five-member subcommittee. Since then labor lobbyists have been active to prevent changes they regard as too stringent.

The measure would increase jobless benefits from $21 a week for 22 weeks to $25 for 25 weeks, cut the waiting period from two weeks to one, and allow $2.50 a week for dependent children of jobless workers to a maximum of $5.

The house commerce and transportation committee Tuesday night began hearings on a separate bill to authorize construction of a Lake Erie-Ohio river conveyor belt line. It is the same as one submitted to the senate where protracted hearings on the $210,000,000 proposal have been held.

The senate bill, weighted by amendments designed to meet persistent objections of railroads, languishes in a subcommittee which apparently intends to let it cool until it can be handled.

No measure in recent years has drawn such concentrated opposition from such top-flight lobbyists. Nor has anything won such active support from a corresponding aggregation.

Both crews were back for the new hearings. Proponents lined up for the bill sponsored by Rep. Bishop Kilpatrick (D-Mahoning) included H. B. Stewart, Jr., of Akron, president of the Akron, Canton & Youngstown railroad and of the conveyor belt line.

Others included former Sen. James W. Huffman of Columbus, E. J. Thomas, president of Good-year Tire & Rubber Co.; George Sheridan of the Ohio Council of Retail Merchants; W. E. Fowler of Youngstown Sheet and Tube; Arthur Gentholt, president of the Ohio Manufacturers association; Ed Waller, vice president of the AFL Ohio Building and Construction Trades council; Jacob Clayman, executive secretary of the Ohio CIO council, and Kenneth Lloyd, executive secretary of the Mahoning Valley Industrial council.

The house conservation committee last night sent to a subcommittee a substitute measure to regulate strip mining in Ohio. It is backed by Lausche and has general approval of mine operators.

The senate highways committee recommended passage of a bill calling for discharge of state employees who operate state-owned automobiles which do not carry "state car" license plates. Some state cars have been operated with regular license tags bearing "hidden" numbers issued to the state but designed to conceal the fact the vehicles are state-owned, it was claimed.

Legion Auxiliary Dinner Speaker Urges UMT Support

The National Security program of the American Legion and its auxiliary was explained by Mrs. Arthur Greene of Paris, honor guest at a dinner meeting of the American Legion auxiliary Tuesday evening in the home.

Mrs. Greene, national executive committee woman, stated that universal military training comes first on this program.

"The test of universal military training put into operation at Fort Knox, Ky., was a success," the speaker declared.

"The findings made at Fort Knox are incorporated in the UMT legislation now before congress," she said.

"First, last and all time, UMT is for security," according to the speaker, who states that the American Legion believes it would be tragic if this legislation, so essential for the nation's safety and security, should fail because of lack of support.

Other points in this program are "Sufficient Air Power," "Adequate Merchant Marine," "Civil Defense" and "A Strong United Nations Organization."

"If war should happen again, it will be the most devastating war in all the history of mankind," she commented. "Let us not be like the ostrich and hide our heads in the sand."

Thousands of prizes worth millions of dollars are given away each year in contests open to you. Right now, FAB is offering $80,000 in 855 prizes; Procter and Gamble $50,000 in 103 prizes; Westinghouse $31,000 in 754 prizes—to mention only a few. Let us show you how YOU can win a share. AMERICAN TELLS OF LIFE IN RED CHINESE AREAS

By FRED HAMPSON

SHANGHAI, April 14—(AP)—The Chinese Communists are also finding the civil war expensive, says James T. Ivy, who was the U. S. aid director at Tientsin until the Reds took over.

Ivy, who recently returned from Tientsin, said he had talked to farmers after the Communists captured that big industrial city.

One farmer told him the Nationalist tax collectors often took up to half of the crops, but that Communist tax collectors were taking as much as seven-eighths.

"The maintenance of a huge military machine seems to be just as expensive for the Communists as anybody else," Ivy said.

"The farmer is having to bear the burden (in Communist territory) just as does the Nationalist farmer. But around Tientsin, at least, the cost seems to be greater."

When Ivy left Tientsin, he said, the Communists were trying to start an income tax system so as to shift part of the burden onto the urban dweller.

Ivy said the difficulties the Communists were having in getting the industrial city to function seemed to temper their anti-Americanism.

"The Chinese are fond of the Americans," one Communist official told him, "and the Americans are fond of the Chinese, but the Chinese are opposed to American foreign policy."

The Communists make much propaganda out of "American imperialism."

Ivy said the Communist officials he managed to see in Tientsin—none of them higher-ups—were reluctant to talk about Russia. They wouldn't reply when he brought up the suggestion that Russia had infringed on China's sovereignty by occupying Dairien and Port Arthur.

Foreigners were allowed to move freely in Tientsin, churches functioned and church property had not been seized.

Ivy said he had heard of no mass arrests or mass trials of the wealthy. Some Nationalist officials were arrested. The money market was open and U. S. currency was much in demand. Movies were open every night.

Ivy said a popular film was "The Fighting Lady," a documentary film of aircraft carrier action in the Pacific war. A special showing was arranged for Communist officials, who praised the picture.

"The American Navy and Air Force are very good," said one, "but the Army is no good."

JUST WHERE DOES YUGOSLAVIA STAND?

WHAT GIVES with Yugoslavia and the Iron Curtain is a question western diplomats are pondering. Now that the North Atlantic Defense pact formally aligns western democracies against the Communist-dominated nations, Yugoslavia is a country without a friend, and a bigger question than ever. It's been nearly a year since Marshal Tito got an idea for an alliance of Balkan nations. Moscow rebuked him—good Communists don't get ideas, they just follow orders. Tito stood his ground so Yugoslavia was finally kicked out of the Cominform. Ever since, Russian satellite governments have seized every opportunity to belabor Tito publicly. Tito himself has indicated a willingness to co-operate with the west, but not at expense of shunning brother Slav nations to the east.

Q—How many signers of the Constitution became presidents?

A—Two. George Washington and James Madison, both of Virginia, were the only signers of the original draft of the Federal Constitution who later became Presidents of the United States.

U. S. ARMY OFFICER SAYS CONVEYOR MAY FILL NEEDS

PITTSBURGH, April 13—(AP)—A successful belt-line to convey iron ore from the Great Lakes to Ohio river valley steel mills probably would eliminate the need for the proposed Lake Erie-Ohio River canal, the head of the district Army Engineers said today.

Col. Francis H. Falkner told the concluding session of the annual convention of the Ohio Valley Improvement association the Army is interested in any means of lowering transportation costs. He said:

"We do not desire to compete with private enterprise, or if it is possible to obtain the objective by a belt line or by increasing the efficiency of the railroads, instead of a canal, the corps of engineers will use those means."

Col. Falkner's views differed from those of Col. Walter E. Lorence, former Army district engineer in Pittsburgh, who contended a successful belt line would have no effect on the canal project.

Cost of the canal project has been estimated at $400,000,000. The estimated cost of the belt line, to be built with private funds, is $200,000,000.

U. S., Canada In Mobilization Pact

WASHINGTON, April 13—(AP)—The United States and Canada yesterday established a joint committee to coordinate their plans for industrial mobilization in the event of an emergency.

The State department made public an exchange of notes between Laurence A. Steinhardt, American ambassador to Ottawa, and Canadian Foreign Minister Lester B. Pearson, creating the joint United States-Canada industrial mobilization committee.

Steinhardt's note said common interests of the two governments in defense, "their proximity and the complementary characteristics of their resources" indicate the advantages of coordinated efforts.

United States members of the board are Dr. John R. Steelman, acting chairman of the National Security Resources board, and Donald F. Carpenter, chairman of the Munitions board. Canadian members are Harry J. Carmichael, chairman of the Industrial Defense board, and S. D. Pierce, associate deputy minister of the Department of trade and Commerce.

The committee will have the function of exchanging information "with a view to the coordination" of industrial mobilization plans, and making recommendations regarding such plans. It also will be responsible for cooperation with the existing permanent joint board on defense in industrial mobilization matters.

Massillon's Gen. Coxey To Mark Anniversary March

MASSILLON, April 13—(UP)—"General" Jacob S. Coxey, who organized and led the famous "Coxey's Army" on its march to Washington in 1894, will observe his 55th birthday anniversary at his home here, Saturday.

On the following day, Easter Sunday, Coxey and historians will celebrate the 55th anniversary of the start of his memorable march on the nation's capital.

Coxey, still in good health and active, attracted national fame during the great depression of 1893 when he proposed the printing of money to put the unemployed at work on a national road improvement program. To advance his plan, he organized his "army" and on Easter Sunday, 1894, began the march on Washington.

By the time the group reached nearby Canton, 74 men were in line. More and more persons joined the marchers as they made their way toward the U. S. capital, and by the time the group reached Washington, May 1, 1894, the "army" numbered an estimated 4,000 men.

Coxey attempted to speak, but a large force of police broke up the gathering. Coxey was fined $5 and sentenced to 20 days in jail for walking on the grass. The "army" disbanded and the cause was lost temporarily.

Led Second Army
In 1914 Coxey led a second, but smaller "army" in automobiles to Washington and spoke from the Capitol steps.

A bill embodying Coxey's plan was introduced in Congress in 1929, but it got no further than the hearing room of the sub-committee of the currency and banking committee. In 1932 Coxey conferred with President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt on a plan for issuing non-interest bearing bonds.

Using his non-interest bond as a platform, Coxey campaigned for numerous political offices ranging from municipal posts up to congressional, gubernatorial, senatorial and even to presidential positions. He was candidate for President of the United States in 1932 on the Farm-Labor ticket.

With undaunted devotion, Coxey believed his plan would "free 110,000,000 human chattels from the slavery of usury."

His plan, as he explained it, was this:

"Write a bill and have it introduced in Congress, permitting states, counties, townships, cities and villages to deposit non-interest bearing bonds, running 25 years, with the secretary of the treasury; the amount of the bonds would not exceed one-half of the assessed value of the property of the political subdivision, and the issue would be retired at the rate of four percent annually."

"Then, have the secretary of the treasury give in return for such bonds, notes in the denominations of $1, $2 and $5 each—legal money—and make the notes a full legal tender for all debts, public and private."

No One Out

No one would lose a cent, Coxey explained. The bonds would be paid in 25 years by a small tax on property, and the notes issued against them would be sent back to the U. S. treasury and withdrawn from circulation.

At various times, Coxey prospered with his quarry, a breeding farm in Kentucky, arsenic mines in West Virginia and his promotion of a steam turbine and a life preserver. He was reputed to have $3,000,000 in 1923. Most of his money, however, went back into his campaigning for his plan.

Coxey was born in a log cabin in Selinsgrove, Pa., April 16, 1854. He left school at the age of 15 and went to work in a steel mill. It was then, Coxey said, he began reading and thinking about the fallacies of a money system which permitted economic depressions.

ELIZABETH WON'T HAVE VISITORS IN UNFINISHED HOME

By CARTER L. DAVIDSON

LONDON, April 13—(AP)—A young British housewife named Elizabeth, just like any young housewife, doesn't want company in her new home until everything is just so.

That's why only a handful of relatives and decorators have any idea of what it's like inside the new home of Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip.

The royal couple will move into Clarence house, one of the mansions in the grounds of historic St. James palace, sometime around May 1.

Workmen have been busy for months repairing the damage German bombs inflicted on the four-story, century and a half old mansion. Decorators are modernizing the interior. This includes ripping out or refurbishing yards and yards of crimson carpeting.

Until all that is done, and until Princess Elizabeth herself has had a chance to make sure the furnishings are just as she wants them, there will be no guests, official or unofficial.

Even Dad (the King of England to you and me) hasn't been in the house since the start of the remodeling. Neither has any representative of parliament, which voted $200,000 to pay for getting the house ready for England's future queen, her husband and her son who will succeed her on the throne.

Second Duke
Prince Philip, the Duke of Edinburgh, will be the second of that dukedom to use Clarence house as a bridal home. Queen Victoria gave the house to her son of that title when he married Marie Alexand-rova, the daughter of Czar Alexander II of Russia in 1874.

The house is one of the newest additions to the storied precincts of St. James palace, built by Henry VIII more than 400 years ago. George III was married in St. James and lived there while sending his soldiers to put down his unruly colonists in America.
Clarence house, now freshly painted a creamy yellow, was built early in the 19th century for the Duke of Clarence, who later ruled England from 1831 to 1837 as William IV. It was on his death that his niece ascended the throne as Queen Victoria.
Victoria's third son and seventh child, the Duke of Connaught, lived in Clarence house for nearly a half century, until his death there in 1942 at the age of 92.
Since then the house has been used as headquarters for the British Red Cross and other welfare organizations, and as offices for the central chancery of the orders of knighthood.
The house is on The Mall, facing St. James park. Down The Mall

It was the second such action directed at MacArthur by the long-dormant Soviet mission in two days. The Allied Supreme commander was asked yesterday by Russia's chief representative in Japan to countermand the purge of a Japanese political leader.

Price Dips Noted In More Fields, To Consumer's Glee

NEW YORK, April 13—(AP)—A new batch of price cuts passed on more savings to consumers today.

A number of the reductions were piled on top of previous cuts which failed to spur lagging sales. Others were seasonal.

Sunshine Biscuits Inc. of New York at the annual stockholders meeting disclosed about a dozen lines of its cookies had been cut around 10 per cent over the past few weeks.

"Competition is daily becoming keener," said Hanford Main, company president.

General Electric Co. cut prices on three radio-phonograph combinations in seven models by $15 to $90 at the retail level. The cuts are "suggested retail prices" to apply on shipments from the factory since April 1.

Coal prices are coming down with the advent of summer after a mild winter in which demand was less than normal.

Champion Coal Co. of Pittsburgh, retail outlet for Pittsburgh Consolidated Coal Co., shaved several types of soft coal by 13 to 65 cents a ton. Those in the industry said soft coal prices are expected to remain firm generally with the exception of local cuts brought on by competition.

In the anthracite industry, however, the first reductions from high post-war peaks were effective this week. The lower prices vary, but probably will amount to as much as $1 a ton to the consumer in some cases.

Also under the influence of summer, Socony-Vacuum Oil Co. brought Number 2 home heating fuel oil down by 2 to 5 of a cent a gallon.

The same good old summertime, it was recalled, influenced a .5 of a cent a gallon boost in gasoline prices recently in a number of areas.

Publicker Industries Inc. reduced its anti-freeze to $1 a gallon from $1.50. In this case, officials said, the cut will carry through to the time you have to use anti-freeze in your car.

Bendix Home Appliances Inc. cut 10 per cent off of two models of automatic washers. All appliance sales have been falling off in recent months.

Hachmeister Inc. marked down asphalt tile and allied products by 8 to 18.5 per cent at Pittsburgh.

Aldens Inc., fourth largest of the nation's mail order houses, in its summer mail order catalogue has prices about 15 per cent under the book issued a year ago. And as something new, the catalogue features an eight-page bargain section.

FARM NEWS

Columbiana county is now in the quarantined area for Bangs disease in cattle, according to a regulation issued by Dr. H. G. Geyer, state veterinarian, and Dr. R. L. Knudson, veterinarian in charge of the United States Bureau of Animal Industry at Columbus.

The regulation was issued March 21 and was forwarded to livestock dealers, veterinarians, community sale operators and to sheriffs and constables. The quarantined areas apply to the counties in which testing for Bangs disease is in progress or has been completed under the area plan of control.

Use of the quarantine is intended as a benefit and protection to those herd owners who are cooperating in the program for the eradication of Bangs disease (Brucellosis). The regulations provide that all cattle which may be used for dairy and breeding purposes, except those for immediate slaughter, when brought into the quarantined area must either be from an accredited area or an accredited herd or must have had a negative test within 30 days prior to entry. In the latter case, such cattle must be kept separate from other cattle and be retested in 30 or 60 days after entry.

Fifteen Ohio counties are included in the quarantine areas. Columbiana being the only one in northeast Ohio.

One hundred Farm Bureau employees met at the Methodist church at Carrollton for dinner and an evening program April 7. Employees from six counties were present, including Carroll, Columbiana, Harrison, Jefferson, Stark and Tuscarawas. Eighteen from Columbiana attended.

Forty-three thousand trees and shrubs are being distributed by the Columbiana Soil Conservation district to farmers who have worked out complete farm plans and find the best use of some of their land is to grow trees.

A like number of trees will be planted by these farmers from other sources. These trees are received from the federal soil conservation service as part of the cooperative agreement between the district and the department of agriculture for developing a complete overall conservation program in this territory.

White pine, red pine, Scotch pine, tulip poplar and multiflora rose are some of the varieties included in these trees and shrubs and there are also wildlife packages for developing food and cover for game.

The shipment of trees is part of the millions that have been distributed from the Zanesville nursery of the Soil Conservation service, there being 30,000 trees shipped to the Carroll district and 18,500 trees shipped to the Jefferson district, all of which operate in cooperation with the Lisbon office.

The Soil Conservation districts are accepting applications from farmers who desire this service and at this time of the year numerous applications are being received. Anyone of the board supervisors of the district or the county agent can explain the planning of farms. District supervisors in Columbiana county are Don Rupert, Elden Groves, Clyde Freeman, Edwin Copeland and James Huston.

RIGHTS OF WOMEN MAY BE GRANTED BY INDIA RULE

NEW DELHI, April 13—(AP)—India's 150 million Hindu women soon may receive some of the rights which their western sisters long have taken for granted.

A bill recently presented to the legislative assembly by Law Minister B. R. Ambedkar would change centuries-old Hindu customs.

It insists on monogamy. Hindu husbands now may marry as many wives as they wish.

It confers the right of divorce. Until now Hindu marriage has been indissoluble legally.

For the first time a woman may share in her father's property. Present Hindu law provides that sons share their father's estate.

The new bill would reverse another ancient law by making the mother, and not the father, heir to an unmarried son's property.

It would give the Hindu woman full control over property she inherits. She now may use the income from inherited estates but must hold the principal for male heirs, usually her own sons or her husband's brothers.

The measure also preserves the woman's dowry for herself. At present the dowry, given by a bride's parents, comes under the full control of the husband who may spend it as he wishes.

The bill has been in the making since 1941 and is based on the findings of a select committee which toured the country recording all shades of religious opinion.

Introducing it in the assembly, Ambedkar referred to it as "nothing more than repairing the dilapidated parts of Hindu society.

Opponents condemned the bill as "repugnant to Hindu culture and traditions." Placards have appeared on walls attacking the measure as an infringement of personal and religious liberties.

Skeptics argue that the customs which the bill seeks to change, some dating back three thousand years, are too deeply imbedded to be changed by law. They point out that India has a law forbidding the marriage of boys below the age of 18 and girls below 14, but claim that it has not broken the tradition of child marriages in rural communities.
